

The authors

Alexander Hamedinger

Alexander Hamedinger is economist and urban scholar. He currently holds the position of an associate professor at the Department of Spatial Planning at the TU Wien and is head of the Centre of Sociology within this Department. His main research areas are: urban and regional governance, urban sociology, sustainable urban development, social inequality and space.

alexander.hamedinger@tuwien.ac.at

Lukas Franta

Lukas Franta is an urban researcher at TU Wien. He is currently a doctorate candidate at the Centre of Sociology, Department of Spatial Planning at TU Wien. His research areas are: urban sociology and urban space, urban governance and contentious politics. In his doctorate thesis he looks at the interrelation of the governance of urban space and forms of contentious politics, such as protest, urban gardening, and urban commons.

lukas.franta@tuwien.ac.at

Nina Vogel

Dr. Nina Vogel has achieved her doctoral degree in Planning & Development. Currently she is post-doctoral researcher at the Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences' SLU at the Department of Landscape Architecture, Planning and Management in Alnarp, Sweden.

nina.vogel@slu.se

Paschalis A. Arvanitidis

Paschalis Arvanitidis is Assistant Professor of Institutional Economics at the Department of Economics at the University of Thessaly. He is an engineer and an economist specializing in institutional economics, urban and regional economics and real estate markets.

parvanit@uth.gr

Fotini Nasioka

Fotini Nasioka is a PhD candidate at the Department of Economics at the University of Thessaly. She is an economist specializing in applied economics and local development.

Romana Brait

MMag.a Romana Brait works as an economist in the department for economics and statistics within the Austrian Chamber of Labour. In her research, she focuses on the limitations of capitalist production, budgetary issues (particularly the fiscal equalization) and feminist economics.

romana.brait@akwien.at

Katharina Hammer

Mag.a Katharina Hammer works as a sociologist in the department for local politics within the Austrian Chamber of Labour. Main research interests: urban studies, participation processes, socially just city development and public space. She is currently doing her PhD at the University of Vienna.

katharina.hammer@akwien.at

Ioanni Delsante

Dr Delsante received his PhD from the University of Pavia. He is currently Reader in Urban Design at the University of Huddersfield (UK). Previously, he was Assistant Professor in Architectural and Urban Design at the University of Pavia. He is currently a member of the Urban Design Group and the Academy of Urbanism and a Chartered Member of the Royal Institute of British Architects. An affiliate of the Royal Town Planning Institute, he is a member of the Regional Activities Committee and the International Network Core Group for the Yorkshire region (2016-2018). He is Associate Editor of the Journal of Urban Planning and Development. His research interests focus on urban design and the history and theory of cities.

i.delsante@hud.ac.uk

Nadia Bertolino

Dr Nadia Bertolino received her PhD in Architecture from the University of Pavia. She is currently a Research Fellow in Architecture at Northumbria University, working on Place and Belonging, a project funded by the UK's Arts and Humanities Research Council. She was previously Director of the Masters in Architectural Design at the Sheffield School of Architecture. Her current research explores topics concerning space activism and the role of self-organised communities in challenging conventional practices of urban development.

nadia.bertolino@northumbria.ac.uk

Laura Belik

Laura Belik is an architect and urbanist from São Paulo, Brazil. She holds an MA in Design Studies from Parsons - The New School, where she also worked as part-time faculty. Laura is currently a PhD student in Architecture at UC Berkeley.

laurabelik@berkeley.edu

Sabine Gruber

Mag. Sabine Gruber, M.C.D. holds a Magister degree in Ethnology and a Masters degree in Community Development. She worked as a facilitator of participation processes in the field of sustainable urban development and with NGOs for more than ten years. Her research includes democracy, economic alternatives and work. Currently she is a doctoral student in Economic Sociology at Trier University. Internet: www.sabine-gruber.at mail@sabine-gruber.at

Astghik Grigoryan

Astghik Grigoryan obtained a master in built environment from KTH, Stockholm and is conducting PhD in Urbanism at the Faculty of Architecture, University of Lisbon, Portugal. She is a contributor investigator at CIAUD - Research Centre for Architecture, Urbanism and Design, since December, 2016.

astghik.l.grigoryan@gmail.com

Jenny Paulsson

Dr Jenny Paulsson is an Associate Professor in Real Estate Planning and Land Law at KTH Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm, Sweden.

jenny.paulsson@abe.kth.se